MR. BLANKE HEADS COMPANY

HE IS MEMBER OF COMMITTEE ON CONCESSIONS.Southern Industrial Association, in Session at Philadelphia, Indorses Fair and Will Hold Its Convention Here.The following telegram was received at World's Fair headquarters, Friday morning:PHILADELPHIA, June 14, 1901.
Secretary Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co., St.
Louis, Mo.
Southern Industrial Association has unanimously adopted resolution commending the World's Fair of 1904 and resolved to hold its session there.Cyrus F. Blanke said to the Post-Dispatch Friday morning that he was the head of a company being organized to build the Friede aerial globe on the World's Fair grounds.Plans and specifications are in preparation in the office of Albert Borden, a mechanical engineer of 407 North Broadway.
The structure will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, and will be to the St.
Louis World's Fair what the Eiffel Tower was to Paris and the Ferris Wheel to Chicago.Mr. Blanke said: "It is a little early, perhaps, to say anything, but a company is being formed and will incorporate as the Friede-Blanke Aerial Globe Co. for the purpose of carrying out the plan.""There should be no difficulty in getting the consent of the World's Fair management. We will ask for no special privileges, but the same as the Ferris wheel company had at Chicago.""I consider the conception one of the grandest ever formed in the human brain.
In height, diameter and in square feet it will be far superior to anything of the kind ever attempted."The Friede globe was one of the first of the big suggestions received by the World's Fair management. It was singled out from a multitude of others by the Post-Dispatch as worthy of consideration, and a full description, with illustrations, was first printed in this paper.The idea was suggested by Samuel M.
Friede, a local manufacturer's agent, whose office is at 220 South Broadway. Mr.
Blanke is to be the principal capitalist in the company, but other well-known men, it is said, are interested. Mr. Blanke is a director in the Louisiana Purchase Expon-sition Co., and a member of the concessions committee.

Height of Globe.

Will Be Increased.
The plans originally drawn by Mr. Friede have been changed somewhat, increasing the height of the structure from 600 to 720 feet.The present plans call for a huge steel globe, 350 feet in diameter, mounted upon a steel framework 210 feet high. The base of the framework will be a circular platform at the top of the framework, 210 feet above the ground, will be an aerial suspended restaurant, containing the largest restaurant in the world. This will be 250 feet square.A coliseum, 500 feet in circumference, will be located at a height of 300 feet above the ground. Here there will be continuous vaudeville performances from morning until night. Fifty feet further up, inside the globe, of course, will be the music hall of the same dimensions.Around the outside of the globe, half way up, will be a movable sidewalk, 10 feet wide, 100 feet around, on which visitors can sit, slip their drink and enjoy the landscape at a height of 400 feet. Still higher up, in the dome, will be palm gardens. In the structure above the dome will be observatory and memorial rooms.There will be 16 elevators to carry passengers, besides a central elevator. The inclined walks around the outside of the upper portion of the globe. The total capacity of the structure will be 2,500 persons.The entire globe will be brilliantly illuminated, and two great search lights will be placed in the tower, 100 feet above the earth.The cost was originally estimated at $1-$2,000,000. The increase in height proposed will raise this to about $2,000,000. Mr. Blanke says the money is already in sight, and all that remains now is to obtain the concession.John Schroers, a director of the World's Fair, has written First Vice-President Corwin H. Spencer, suggesting that the dedication of the Louisiana Purchase building at the Pan-American Exposition be set for June 28 instead of July 2.His reason for the proposed change of date is that 400 members of the German singing societies of St. Louis will be in Buffalo on the former date to attend the national songfest and wish to take part in the dedicatory ceremonies."The suggestion looks like a good one," said Mr. Spencer, "and it will be laid before the organization committee for action." will first ascertain, however, what arrangements President Francis has made for holding the dedication on July 2.The organization committee will meet in the Laclede building at 3:15 o'clock Friday afternoon to arrange the program for this occasion and attend to other business.In addition to the other ceremonies there will be an address on the Louisiana purchase and musical selections.At 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon the executive committee will meet to resume the discussion of the site.President Francis and Secretary Stevens are expected to return to this city on Monday and until they return no decisive announcement is likely to be made concerning the site.Notwithstanding the absence from the city of some of the principal officials of the company, the stream of callers at headquarters is steadily on the increase.
Not only applicants for positions and space, and would-be concessionaires, but friends and well-wishers of the World's Fair from various parts of the country are found in these crowds. Perry Bartholow, who is acting as secretary during Mr. Stevens' absence, says the interest in the Fair is greater than at any time since the movement was started, and he has been connected with it from the beginning.L. F. Parker, general solicitor of the Frisco Railway, and a member of the Missouri commission to the Louisiana Purchase Centennial, has called at headquarters several times during the week.Tracy Griffin Hanged.
BRUNSWICK, Ga., June 14.—Tracy Griffin, colored, was hanged here today for the murder in October last of R. Marion Leimer, a prominent conductor on the Southern Railway. The conductor was killed for ordering a negro to transmit the car from the platform while the train was in motion.

THE FRIEDE AERIAL GLOBE

This is the first building which it is officially announced will be constructed as a feature of the St. Louis World's Fair. The plans and suggestion were first published in the Sunday Post-Dispatch about three months ago. A company of capitalists were so well pleased with it that they have taken the matter in hand and will build it.
The working plans are now being made.NEW ST. LOUIS

TO CLEAN NEW ST. LOUIS.

A clean New St. Louis is purely an educational movement.
It can be an expensive or inexpensive education.The expensive education about these lines ought to be the outgrowth of co-operation between citizens and the authorities.
The expensive education is the tuition a citizen forces upon himself when he is brought into court to answer for violation of the ordinances regulating the sanitation of the city.Which of the two avenues of education will be chosen?
The ordinance will be enforced.
PRESIDENT HIRAM PHILLIPS, B. P. L.President Hiram Phillips of the Board of Public Improvement, who is the head of the movement for a clean New St. Louis will begin at a conference between the mayor and the heads of city departments involved in the regulations for the sanitation of the city as soon as the municipal assembly has been called by the Municipal Assembly. He said:"Some plan will probably be adopted at that meeting which ought to interest the citizens in a general movement to give up a part of the city as a source of civic pride to every public-spirited resident.""I believe that the measures which will be proposed in the business section will be conservative in spirit. They should, and very likely will, involve the inhabitants of St. Louis in a crusade to sweep filth from the city streets and alleys commencing to practice cleanliness at home."This means the keeping of the alleys and the rear portions of residences free from the accumulation of refuse.
The city's part in the movement will commence in the business sections where the accumulation of dirt is greatest.It is expected that the police officers on their beats will call attention to shopkeepers and manufacturers to any untidy conditions of their premises or that portion of the public thoroughfares abutting on their property.The city is persistently evince a disposition to disregard the laws of society by offending the finer sensibilities of their neighbors. It is expected that the police officers on their beats will call attention to shop-
keepers and manufacturers to any untidy
conditions of their premises or that portion of the public thoroughfares abutting on their property.Example Will "The example will naturally extend itself into the residence sections. They naturally take more pride in the appearance of their homes than they do in their places of business.""The improvement in the cleanliness of the business sections ought to have a powerful effect upon the homes. Persistent watching and disciplining of the business of the ordinances will win in the end."Mayor Wells heartily concurs in the plan of President Phillips as explained to the Post-Dispatch. He said: "The city is persistently evince a disposition to disregard the laws of society by
offending the finer sensibilities of their neigh-
their beats will call attention to shop-
keepers and manufacturers to any untidy
conditions of their premises or that portion of the public thoroughfares abutting on their property.""If every citizen will constitute himself an inspector for the city without salary the authorities upon whom devolves the regulation of the sanitary conditions will perform their duties in the way of enforcing the ordinances bearing on the subject."It will be an easy matter to regulate the down-town section and the business section is more heavily polluted and it is compact so that the actions of business men can be watched without any great trouble as in the residence districts."Caught Their Fish Beforehand.
Dr. M. R. Doyle, Charles Cashel, Charles Goetz, Louis Bolsmann, Ed Reeb, John Donohue, Henry P. Smith, Henry Schmitt and Joseph Goetz, fearing that they would not be successful in catching fish, bought a barrel of buffalo and carp and took them with them to McDowell's pasture on a fishing expedition Tuesday. They pretended to be fishing, but the fish were caught by any member of the party.LYNCHING IS passed without the lynching of any of the negroes who have been under arrest in the adjointing parish of Bossier since the murder of John Gray Foster on the Foster plantation, last Wednesday. Prince Edwards, the negro who shot Foster, is still in hiding.The strong stand taken by Gov. Heard in opposition to any violence, his offer to send troops and the protest of the Foster family against the execution of innocent blacks have apparently had a good effect. The excitement has diminished, and planters and business men generally deplore the whole sale lynching or reign of terror for fear it will have the effect of driving negro labor away.Posses are still scouring the country in search of the negro Edwards, but though there are numerous rumors of his whereabouts, no actual trace of him has been found. There is a fear that he may have been able to make his way to New Orleans, where, among the negro dives, it would be difficult to locate him.The negroes who were started to Denton last night have been returned to Kline-bren's store. It was feared that the guard which accompanied them was not strong enough to protect them from violence if any were offered, and that they would be safer at Klinebren.HEARS THE PLEA

NOTES AFFECT OF ADDRESS

Surrounded by Father, Mother, Sister and Two Brothers, the Woman Watches Every Step in Her Trial for Murder.KANSAS CITY, June 14.—When Mrs.
Kennedy entered the courtroom this morning to hear the arguments to the jury before whom she has been on trial for the past ten days for the murder of her husband, Philip H. Kennedy, she appeared in better health and spirits than on any day since the case opened. She had dressed carefully for the occasion, and any traces of a breakdown that she had displayed yesterday had disappeared.In a semi-circle surrounding the prisoner sat her father, C. W. Prince; Bert Prince, the traveling musician and Will Prince, the three latter awaiting trial on a charge of conspiracy with the defendant's husband.Will Prince had been brought from his cell in the county jail to watch the proceedings. Every face of space in the courtroom was taken up by spectators.Mrs. Kennedy did not seem to be as nervous this morning as yesterday. She was dressed in a light blue wash gown and carried in her arms as on former days, but rested her head on her hand and looked stated in a morning paper that Mrs. Kennedy's husband had been shot by her brother, Charles Kennedy, and that she expected to be convicted. To a reporter Mrs. Kennedy said:"I never made any such statement to anyone."
On the opposite side of the aisle from the Prince family were seated Capt. Thomas Kennedy, a pioneer citizen of Kansas City; his young daughter, Thomas Kennedy, Jr., brother of the dead man, and his wife.With the exception of the first day of the trial, when the father and brother of Philip Kennedy appeared as witnesses, none of Kennedy's immediate relatives have been in the courtroom before today. The dead man's mother was too ill to be present, even today. On the day of the murder it was Thomas Kennedy who tried to wrest the revolver from the hands of his brother's slayer, receiving a fatal blow from her brother.Mrs. Kennedy looked squarely at the prosecutor, and when he read that part referring to her supposed slaying of her attendant punishment of death, her face did not change expression. When he came to the instruction for manslaughter, she dropped her head, but only for a moment.Frank G. Johnson, former city police judge, then opened the argument for the defense. He said that the killing of Kennedy by his wife of a month, telling how she had called him from his office and him down without a moment's warning, then coolly submitting to arrest.The jury, however, was not so easily impressed. The fact that she had done it was not in question. The only question was whether she knew the difference between right and wrong.A single witness, friend or foe, had said she was insane, and yet the theory of insanity was not a new one. The defense made for her; the defense had no other plea. She was alone responsible for the death of Philip H. Kennedy, and she was after having deliberated

POST-DISPATCH CAMERA STORY

This unusual view was obtained by a Post-Dispatch photographer from the roof of the old Simmons Hardware Co. on Broadway. It shows the riveters at work on the new Bank of Commerce building at Broadway and Olive streets. The workman in the foreground is catching, in a bucket, a rivet hurled by a man out of sight. Observe the effect presented by the building in the lower right-hand corner.

Years' Absence.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 14.—A striking case of man's ability in a great city to cut himself off from his friends and family had its resulting appropriate end today when the body of Oliver H. Ferris, who disappeared from home 18 years ago, was identified by his sister in the Eastern District Hospital.His sister is Miss C. H. Ferris of Lenox avenue, and her brother is Maj. H. A. Ferris, counsel for the Salvation Army.Oliver H. Ferris lived in Brooklyn and had been a clerk for 10 years for the Pennsylvania Railroad, though none of his family knew all that time, for eight years before, anything of his whereabouts.Ferris was graduated from Yale University in 1877. He went into business, after leaving college and became wealthy. Later he was nearly every day in the city, but no one heard of him or from him, though inquiries set on foot all over the country in the past being asked about him.The Brooklyn coroner's office notified Maj.

Husband.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 14.—Henry M. Flagler's suit for divorce from his insane wife has caused much discussion in legal circles, especially in view of the Supreme Court's recent decision.That decision was in substance that suits for divorce must be filed in the state of last marital residence, or if filed otherwise, the court must be satisfied that the wife is insane.It emphatically ruled against the service of summons on nonresidents by publication.
Flagler's wife is in an insane asylum in a New York suburb and has been there for two years. For ten years prior thereto she was insane. During those ten years Mr. Flagler is believed to have regarded New York State as his legal residence. Under the Supreme Court's ruling, therefore, New York is the legal residence of the insane wife, provided an insane person can have a residence.Now the question arises, can the insane Mrs. Flagler or her guardian accept summons in her husband's divorce suit? Some lawyers say "no," most emphatically.Then the question arises, will Mr. Flagler be legally entitled to remarry outside of Florida, which he is said to have planned.
He is said to have been in Florida and he is said to have been in Florida and he is said to have been in Florida and he is said to have been in Florida.In short, lawyers say if Flagler remarries will he be subject himself to extor-sion from one end of the land to the other?
The question is a legal one, and it is said that Mr. Flagler is a frequent caller at the home of his wife, and that every day Mrs. Flagler arranges herself, telling those about her that her husband is coming to dine with her. Mr. Flagler was a frequent caller, but it is said his wife never displayed the slightest evidence of recognition.
Flagler is said to pay $1000 a month for her room and board, besides allowing every convenience of thing she may desire in the shape of fine clothes and novelties.

pany.Hoey was removed to his home in a desert state. He was hysterical, delirious and semi-conscious for three days and was unable to leave his bed for four months.Dr. Max J. Schwend, who attended Hoey, testified that although the man died from lung consumption, the disease was the rein escaping with their lives. Rain was fallin their night robes suffering severely from the weather.Telegrams were sent to Cincinnati, Louis-

POST-DISPATCH SKETCH BOOK

AN INSPIRATION.

There are a few women who keep their hats on at the theaters, even at this late day. At the summer gardens they are beginning to be considered enough to give the persons behind them a chance to see. Here is the story of one young lady who took her hat off, for the first time, the other night, and will continue to do so hereafter.

It was at the Cave. A young man and his girl had been sitting behind the nearest approach to a "Gainsborough" seen this season for a whole act without seeing any of the show. The first strains of music from the first act of the "Bohemian Girl" had died away and couples were beginning to leave their seats to walk around in the garden.

It was becoming an anxious time for the young man. He had visions of going away from the opera, without seeing the show at all. He was seriously considering having his seat changed when a happy thought struck him.

"Do you know?" said the young man to his young lady friend, "ladies in the theaters are so much more thoughtful than they used to be. It is only those who don't visit theaters once in five years or who come from the country that keep their hats on now."

When the curtain rose for the next act the lady with the Gainsborough was resting it in her lap.

COULDN'T LOSE IT.

"It's so dreadfully hot tonight, let's go out to one of the summer gardens," said Mrs. Newwood to her hubby.

"All right," said Mr. N., "we'll go down to the Cave and see Miss Berli in—let me

SPECIFIC BLOOD POISON

On account of its frightful hideousness specific or contagious poison in the blood is commonly called the king of all venereal diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted. Once the system is tainted with it, the disease may manifest itself in the form of sores, eruptions, or copper-colored spots on face or body, little ulcers in mouth or on tongue, sore throat, swollen tonsils, falling out of the hair or eyebrows, and finally a leprosylike decay

We have many styles
Of handsome and fashionable Spring Suits, not many Of each style—sizes broken,
But in all we can fit Any man.

Worsteds, Cassimeres and Cheviots in the newest Patterns.

Workmanship and fit up
To our standard—which means
The very best.

The saving to you is Very large and they will not Last long at the Price of nine seventy-five.

It was presented, and that was at least twice during a season at each of the gardens, with usually a once-more-by-request performance. "Why I could play it myself."

"They are playing it out there, too. Say: are we St. Louisians getting 'Bohemian Girl' crazy?"

"No, I don't know what their specialties are. They might spring on us an act from the 'Bohemian Girl.' I believe it is in the air. But I do know the attractions at the Suburban." "We'll go there."

They did, and when Mr. N. turned over his program to see what was "next," he almost fell in a fit when he read:

Daniel McGinn had done nothing at the bat in Thursday's League Park game when Philadelphia up to the sixth inning. He had fanned the air once and bunted the ball as though he was uncertain whether he wanted a baserun or a punt.

Two men, Harper and Burkett, were on base at the time, and as the score was tied, it was up to Daniel.

Daniel started out poorly and drew a strike or so. He looked as though he would not get on, and an ardent fan graphically instructed him on how to play.

"If you can't hit the ball time the ball hit you," he said.

Daniel was so incensed that he smote the sphere powerfully and brought in two runs, winning the game.

Umpire Emile made a questionable decision in the first which let in three runs for Philadelphia. Otherwise, Harper would have been the first to reach base.

That capable twirler had a bad five minutes at the start and allowed some hitting to pass unheeded.

Instead of being rattled at what was considered injustice to his team, he improved after the first inning and pitched winning ball.

The game, outside of the first inning, was a shut-out and there are those who think that, even with the hitting by Brooklyn in the opening round, a shut-out would have resulted but for Emile's decision.

There was little else to the game except the steady scoring of the local and their good all-round work. The team looks like a winner right now, and if there is an aggregation that can beat the bases, it has not yet started to work.

Catcher Nichols is continuing giving the St. Louis fans pleasant shocks by his good work. Keeler managed to make him throw wild yesterday for the first time in many months. That will happen to the best of them.

"It is better never to have lived at all than to be an umpire," quoth Umpire Emile to himself as he stood in the shadows of his pocket and vacated League Park Thursday.

Emile has some ground for deploring the fate that made him an autocrat of balls, strikes and foul points in the great national game.

To be called a "dub," a "robber" and a "cheat" by an indignant, though not necessarily accurate mob of ball fans, is not the pleasantest thing in the world, especially when the feeling is burning hot within that, whether you are doing right or wrong, you are doing your best.

When it is further considered that only a short time ago, you were considered the best umpire in the League, the odium of the situation is apt to rankle still more.

It is the unfortunate feature with baseball umpires that what is mistake in other callings is a crime in the national pastime.

It is a question, too, as to whether the calling of Emile on Burkett's play on what was officially called a "pick-up" in Thursday's game was incorrect.

Burkett says it was a fair catch and calls attention to the fact that he threw to second instead of to home plate as he would have done had he failed to catch the ball.

The fans also say Burkett caught it—some of them. Several of them, who were placed in a good position to observe the play, say that he did not.

Three men were on bases at the time. Davis hit out the ball and Burkett fielded it. Whether it was caught or not it was a brilliant piece of work. Burkett immediately threw to second to double the score.

But Burkett is a foxy ball player. He may have seen a chance to make a grandstand bluff and taken advantage of it.

A fan who saw the play, without waiting to hear the umpire's decision, remarked that it was the most daring bluff that he had ever seen pulled off, as it let runs cross the plate.

It is probable that Burkett alone knows what really happened. The opinion of the rosters goes for little, as the umpire could see as well as they, and the fact that his decision cost the home team runs is calculated to give him no reason for regret.

Burkett is too good a ball player to make a mistake. He is clever enough to attempt a smooth trick.

In any event, there is enough doubt about it for Emile to shrive Emile of any sin in the affair.

"Wee Willie" Sudhoff will oppose his prowess to that of Donovan in Friday's game. Sudhoff has been very effective of late and, with the capable playing of the Cardinals behind him, may clinch the position of the St. Louis team on fourth place.

St. Louis is in a peculiar position in the league race today. It is tied with Cincinnati and Philadelphia are fighting it out at the Queen City.

Cincinnati is but two games ahead of the locals. Philadelphia is tied with them. If it wins, they may pass the Cardinals.

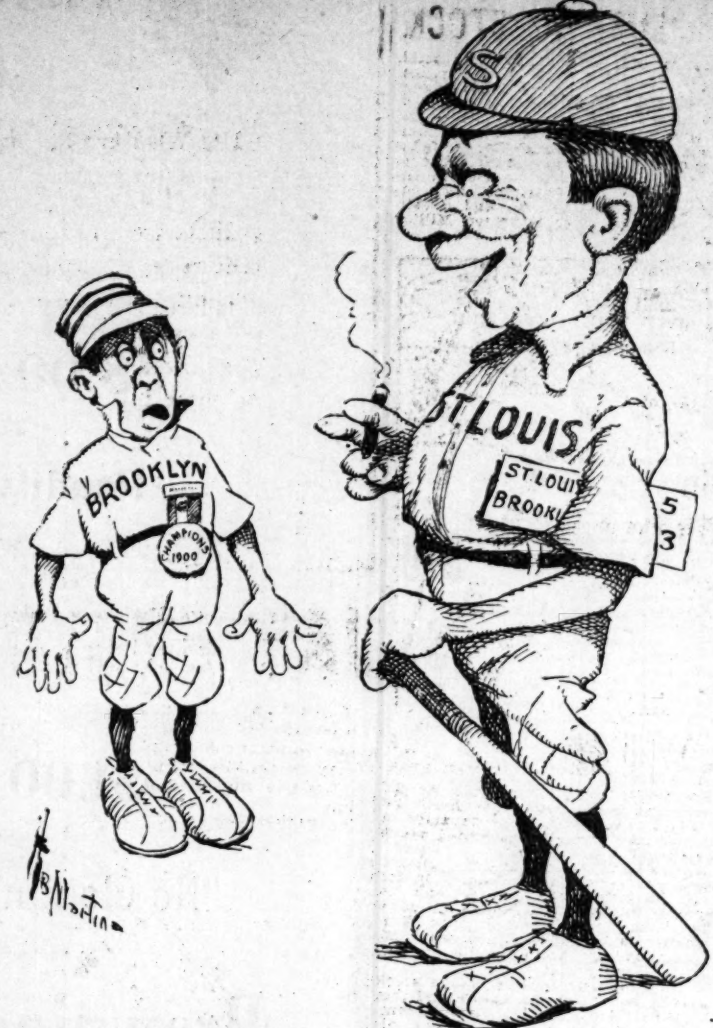

The problem is not to shake off the Cardinals with the Phillies and still crawl up on the Cincinnati crowd. It's a problem with a very strong likeness to the three snakes, each trying to swallow the other.

"Nick" Young, the high mogul of the National League, next to Freedman, is in St. Louis, and will witness Friday's game at League Park. Mr. Young is the grand old man of baseball, and he looks it. He has been identified with League affairs for 31 years and is still active in the cause.

The clash between Young and Freedman, which was expected to occur at Chicago, was averted by the detailing of Cunningham to take Young's place in the Chicago-New York series. The League's president was averted by the detailing of Cunningham to take Young's place in the Chicago-New York series.

It was a fortunate accident that he was averted by the detailing of Cunningham to take Young's place in the Chicago-New York series.

FAIR GROUNDS, June 14.—Today's card is almost overlooked altogether by the regulars.

Interest is centered in the St. Louis Derby, which will be decided tomorrow. The railbirds are watching the Derby candidates with keen interest.

Will Darden very cleverly fooled the watchers yesterday morning. He had one of his stable hands lead the inconsistent colt to the track and sent him on his journey before anybody could catch him.

His work was entirely satisfactory. Darden and Wall is now among the probability of the race.

It is said that his time for the mile and a half was between 2:30 and 2:35. Several of his stable hands caught the mile and a quarter in 2:12.

He was given an easy gallop early to work out any stiffness that the journey might have caused.

St. Leo vs. St. Rose, probably Handan Park, at 2:30.

After a closely contested game the Irving team of the Post-Dispatch Public School League defeated the Doziers by a score of 10 to 9 on the High School grounds in Forest Park, Thursday afternoon.

The contest was exciting throughout, and the ninth inning was made up of clever hits, brilliant base-running and good plays. Irving's victory was due to their half of the ninth facing a lead of one run, and won the victory by clean hits. Delger, who led his team at the bat, saved the day by hitting the ball for two bases, Sternfeld crossing the rubber with the tying run.

Delger's was one of the most timely of the game.

There were two men on bases and two runs were needed to win when he faced the pitcher, and, despite the efforts of "rooters" to rattle him, he planted the sphere behind second base.

Bader then made a beautiful single, which tallied Schultz with the winning run. In the first inning Doziers scored on a path ball, Chirches hit all around in this inning for a total of three runs. Vets, Irving's catcher, was struck in the back by a pitched ball and was replaced by Schultz.

Fourings took a rest for the next three innings, and Doziers piled up five runs.

giving them a good lead at the end of the fourth.

In the fifth a passed ball was again responsible for Doziers only run.

Irving Scored Two in Fifth.

Irving's fifth was well accounted for when two bases on balls, an error and two hits scored two runs.

Both teams took a recess in the sixth, but Dozier's managed, by excellent headwork, to score one man in the seventh.

Irving did some good batting in their half of the seventh and had two runs placed to their credit. The eighth was slow and contained no feature except a forced run for Irving.

Sternfeld ran 40 feet and connected with a foul fly in the sixth, and was loudly cheered.

Gleason made a beautiful slide to second in third inning. He went to second on Chase's single to left field, and made a ten-foot dive for the bag going, under Kublan's arm.

Smith, who did the twirling for Doziers, allowed seven men to take their bases and struck out six.

Belleville, who pitched for Irving, gave eight passes to first, struck out eight men. The line-up and score was as follows:

Irving-Bader ss, Brock 2b, Kublan 3b, Belleville p, Dozier 1b, Sternfeld 4b, Schultz c, Delger rf.

Dozier-Sullivan ss, Hirsch 2b, Wostenholm 3b, Irwin 1b, Bruno c, Gleason rf, Chase rf, Barre p.

Games Will Be Arranged Next Week.

The Irving and Dozier Schools have no games for Saturday, owing to the fact that the postponed contest between the Lincoln and Madison teams cannot be played until Sunday, while the Cote Brillante nines have already been scheduled.

Games will be arranged for nearly every day next week.

The schedule for next week's games will be published Sunday if the Lincoln and Madison teams play their game.

"Ringerism" need not be feared in any of the championship games. Photographs of the teams will be taken and any complaint of players can readily be traced from the photographs with the aid of the teachers or principals.

The practice is unfair and attempts at it will be attended by the forfeiture of the game.

Four games are scheduled for Saturday.

SENIOR CLASS WILL COMPETE Championship Will Be Decided in Buf-falo Stadium Saturday.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 14.—Interest in the amateur athletic games in progress in the Stadium of the Pan-American Exposition is centered on the events to be run off Saturday.

The games will be participated in by athletes of prominence from every part of the United States and Canada.

Tomorrow's contest will be for the senior championships, and the class of the entries should be even better than those of yesterday.

Thursday's trials saw no records smashed, though George H. Hoffman, champion of the United States, won the 100-yard dash, 9.4 seconds.

Another feature of the day's sport was the defeat of John Flannagan, champion hammer and weight thrower, by S. S. Gunn, a young Y. M. C. A. lad of Buffalo.

The Knickerbocker C. C. of New York scored the highest number of points of any athletic organization.

Fishing Club Organized.
The Ferguson Fishing Club organized Thursday evening with the following officers:

Frank Tiffin, president; C. C. Land, vice-president; E. H. Cunningham, secretary and treasurer; C. Graf, marshal.

The club has secured the exclusive rights to January lake, and will dispose them next Sunday for the lake fishing season.

Mayor Reed of Ferguson suggested that a penalty of $5 be exacted from any member found angling with a net or with a Union Market. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

A club was enrolled with a membership of 25, and a limited membership of 50.

Nobby Garments, Nobby Boys.
$1.75, $2.35 and $4.95 will buy $3.00, $5.00 and $7.50 boys' suits at the Globe, Seventh and Franklin avenues.

PEORIA PAID IN $30,000,000.
Revenue Collections Are the Greatest in History of the District.

PEORIA, Ill., June 14.—The Peoria revenue district maintains its lead as the greatest producer for the department. This year the collections will amount to $30,000,000. Up to the closing of the books last night there had been collected during the fiscal year $28,100,000.

If the present month, the kept up during the rest of the year, the total for the year, which comes on June 30, will witness the collection of a full thirty million dollars.

The record for the Peoria district, the latest previous annual collections having been $24,478,800.71. Since the organization of the annual revenue system in 1883, Peoria district has contributed $44,500,000.

Old Scenter Rye Is Mellow And wholesome. Ask for it. H. L. Griess-dick & Co., distributor, St. Louis.

Church Picnic.—The annual basket picnic of the Lindell Avenue M. E. Church Sunday-school and Epworth League will be held at Forest Park Saturday at picnic grounds No. 8. There will be no charges for transportation, ice cream or lemonade.

Murder in First Degree.
PITTSBURGH, June 14.—John Biddle, charged with the robbery and subsequent killing of Grover Thomas D. Kahney, was convicted this morning of murder in the first degree.

Maiden 2-year-olds will hold the boards in the second event. Miss Wandelehr ran a nice race her first out and ought to turn the trick today. In a four and a half furlong event she finished third to Ethylene and Ruby Ray and beat Satchel, to whom she was conceding eight pounds.

Marque is heralded as a good thing. Only three horses will fight for the third purse. According to the knowing ones, South Breeze has improved wonderfully over his only out, when he was practically left at the post. Albert F. Dewey should have little trouble in beating Batur for the place.

In the jumping race six will start. Of the lot Titus appears the best. In his initial start over the sticks this year he found little trouble in beating Colonial Dame. Artemus showed a world of speed and a liking for the sticks in his only appearance. However, he dived badly when the stretch turn was reached. He may go the whole way today and deliver the goods, as he is in at light weight.

Amelia Strathmore will find considerable trouble in beating Kitty Clyde in the fifth event. Kitty is a much improved filly and will come near winning. Belle Simpson will be troublesome.

Grantor should be watched in the closing race. He is about due to run one of his sparkling races. Verify is the class to the race.
